FUNNY GIRL:

Miss DelBeato is nothing less than brilliant as the Ziegfeld girl who always makes 'em laugh. It's not just her great singing, though her powerful Don't Rain on My Parade is a near showstopper and her poignant The Music That Makes Me Dance brings tears. It's also her acting. This woman is Fanny Brice, mugging, joking, hurting and all. Her timing is perfect, her delivery on the mark. It's as though songwriters Jule Styne and Bob Merrill and writer Isobel Lennard had created this music and these words for this particular young actor. It all fits.

RAUNCHY LITTLE MUSICAL...BELLE
BARTH IS BACK!

Sara DelBeato is Belle. She's a prettier, voluptuous, powerhouse vocals embodiment of the comedian that boasted her love of the dirty joke... perfectly described by lyricist Owen Kalt as "an exuberant force of nature."

- Deborah Rostock-Kelley,
BroadwayWorld, Tampa

Bringing Belle to life is the extraordinary actress Sara DelBeato. Miss DelBeato commands the stage with her persona... her singing voice is strong and her charm and charisma even stronger.

HAIRSPRAY:

Sara DelBeato presents a remarkable performance as Tracy and the show's signature song, "Good Morning Baltimore" has never been sung better anywhere. DelBeato's boundless energy, great comic timing, and fabulous dancing is engaging throughout.
